BRIAN DEVLIN JOINS PERKINS EASTMAN

Dallas Leadership and Capabilities Expand

Brian Devlin, Principal of Perkins Eastman

New York, New York (August 22, 2019) Brian Devlin recently joined Perkins Eastman in the global architecture and design firm's Dallas studio. Devlin, a Principal at Perkins Eastman, and a native Texan, brings a convergent approach to planning and design, leveraging his expertise in commercial real estate and development communities.

With a Bachelor of Architecture degree from Texas Tech University, Devlin began his career working as an architectural designer on projects ranging from country clubs to the planning and developing of lifestyle communities. Over the last 17 years, Devlin has been instrumental in more than $1 billion in project development and millions of square feet of design and construction throughout Texas and the United States. He has held prominent positions at three of the preeminent development firms in the senior living sector as well as leadership roles at two large system providers, where he led expansion efforts at numerous communities.

“Brian’s passion for architecture and design and his extensive experience in planning, development, and construction dovetail with Perkins Eastman’s goals as we build and expand our design studio leadership in Dallas,” says Shawn Basler, AIA, Co-CEO and Executive Director of Perkins Eastman.

Devlin brings a unique frame of reference to the firm. “I have always had a passion for design no matter the size of a project and strive for the best. Perkins Eastman shares that same passion for smart design solutions and is a leader in the markets it serves. I am thrilled to join the Perkins Eastman team in my home state where I can leverage my experience to proactively address the challenges our clients and partners wrestle with while efficiently delivering excellent products and client services,” says Devlin, who lives with his family in Frisco.
